

A complex maze with a green start dot at the top left and a red end dot at the bottom right. A blue line traces a path through the maze, starting from the green dot, moving down, then right, then down again, and so on, eventually reaching the red dot. The path is a single continuous line that navigates through the various corridors and dead ends of the maze.