

A square maze with a green start dot at the top-left and a red end dot at the bottom-right. A blue line traces a path from the start to the end. The path starts at the top-left corner, moves right, then down, then right again, and continues through a series of turns, eventually reaching the bottom-right corner. The path is a single continuous line that navigates through the maze's corridors and avoids the walls.